YOUNG EMMETS DEFEAT CRACK ROXBURY TEAM

The Young Emmets of this city, who have been putting up a stiff game at Gaelic football, took $100 away from the John Boyle O'Reilly's of Roxbury, Mass., on Monday, and are now entitled to the championship of New England.

The game was played at Waltham, Mass., before a thousand people. The Portsmouth team was fast on every move in the two 25-minute halves, and won by a score of 5 to 2.

The Boston team, comprising some of the best players in this section of the country, could do nothing with the husky septentian from this city. Several members of the old Grattan club were in the Portsmouth line up and added lots of life to the game from beginning to end.

LYNN NINE THE WINNER

Baseball Game at Outing of Shoe City and Portsmouth Commanderies at Freeman's Point

Granite State commandery and Oak Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, held a joint outing at Freeman's Point and entertained members of Essex and City of Lynn commanderies of Lynn, Mass. The visitors were met on their arrival and headed by a flute and drum band, escorted to the picnic grounds. At noon a shore dinner was served.

There was a baseball game between a nine from the Lynn commanderies and the local organization, which the former won, 15 to 12. The tug-of-war was won by the Portsmouth team.

The outing was in charge of Fred C. Grandy, chairman, Frank L. Nichols, Charles E. Oliver, George H. Knight, Millard Knight, S. D. Donnell, W. H. Mason, Charles B. Allen, W. H. Calliwell, F. T. ## WHALEBOAT ENGINE EXPLODES, BLOWS WOMAN INTO RIVER

Cottagers at Rollins Point Row to Rescue Of Party Imperilled on Piscataqua by Leaky Gas Tank

As a whaleboat from the U. S. S. Paducah, which was carrying Captain W. W. Gilmer, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Peterson, and his niece, besides Second Class Machinist's Mate F. J. Cooper and Seaman C. G. Wood, was passing Rollins Point on the Piscataqua Monday, after about 8:30 o'clock, the engine suddenly exploded, blowing out the stern. Mrs. Peterson was carried into the water with the wreckage, one of her ankles was broken, and she narrowly escaped drowning. Mate Cooper was so badly burned that he is now under treatment in the Naval Hospital.

The explosion and consequent predicament of the party in the whaleboat were noted by people in several of the cottages along the shore. Two of them, A. B. Winkley of Lynn, who has a camp near the Point, and Draftsman C. F. Dirks of the Portsmouth navy yard, struck out in rowboats to the damaged craft to render assistance.

With the aid of Seaman Wood, who had only superficial injuries, they rescued Mrs. Peterson from the water. Then Mr. Winkley hurried her and Mate Cooper, who was suffering severely from his burns, in his automobile to the Navy Yard.

The explosion was caused by a leaky gas tank. Its force was so great that the stern was completely demolished and the boat came dangerously near overturning. Mrs. Peterson was swept overboard before she had a chance to seize any projection and save herself. Capt. Gilmer and his niece were not injured.

If Mate Cooper, who was running the engine, had been a little closer to it, his head would have been blown off. As it was, he sustained extremely painful burns and bruises on his face, arms and shoulders and was rendered helpless.

Seaman Wood was also burned and bruised, but he pluckily jumped into the water to save Mrs. Peterson, who was unable to help herself because of her broken ankle and the shock she had suffered.

Mr. Winkley and Draftsman Dirks made remarkably quick time into midstream. Their progress was anxiously followed by people on the piazzas of cottages and hungarous in the vicinity of Rollins Point and Shiny Rock, many of whom had heard the explosion on the whaleboat and seen a woman blown into the water.

TWO CHARGES AGAINST HIM

Northwood Man Goes To Jail Here

Henry Reynolds of Northwood Ridge was arrested by Deputy Sheriff W. B. Shaw Monday night and brought to this city. He was tried in police court today before Judge Sines and heard on two complaints of drunkenness and keeping a disorderly house.

On the first charge, he was ordered to serve 30 days in jail and pay costs $42.67. On the second, he was placed under bonds of $100 for the grand jury.

COAST ARTILLERY

NOW IN CAMP AT FORT CONSTITUTION

The Coast Artillery Corps of the Portsmouth district, which includes Portsmouth, Dover, Exeter and Laconia, started on its annual week's tour of duty at Fort Constitution this morning. The Portsmouth company marched down to the fort about nine o'clock. The men made a businesslike appearance as they tramped through the streets.

The night target firing, which constitutes one of the most important phases of drill week, will begin September 11th and continue on the 12th, 13th and 14th.

All classes of shipping are warned officially to keep clear of the ranges on those nights, for the Coast Artillery gunners, as they have proven, are no mean shots.

This night practice will be observed by higher artillery officers from various parts of the Atlantic coast and the gunners will do their

Fate of H. C. Beattie, Jr., Depends Largely on Whether the Jury Believes Him or His Cousin.

JURORS EXAMINING AUTOMOBILE

Whether Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., is to be convicted of the murder of his wife, on which charge he is now on trial at Chesterfield Court House, Va., may hinge on whether the jury believes the testimony of his cousin, Paul Beattie, or the defendant's own story of the tragedy. Paul Beattie swore that he purchased for his cousin the gun with which the murder was done, and he also testified that the defendant confessed the crime to him. In the illustration these two leading figures in the case are shown, also the members of the jury inspecting the automobile in which the defendant and his wife went riding on the night she was killed.

ELIOT IS NOW A MILLION-DOLLAR TOWN.

To John F. Hill and His Steamships Is Credit Due for Increased Valuation.

Eliot, with a population of 1700, has become a million-dollar town. Announcement to that effect has been made by the selectmen of the town, who have compiled the tax rate and named the town's valuation. The munificence of John F. Hill, former chairman of the Republican national commission, is responsible for the town's jump to glory. Mr. Hill is a native of Eliot.

The town report shows the valuation last year to have been $512,000. Mr. Hill is the controlling factor in the Atlantic Gulf and West Indies Steamship lines, which include principally the Clyde and Mallory lines. Through his influence the steamships of the lines have been transferred to Eliot and the old town reaps the benefit of the taxation. The steamships are valued at $500,000, and as a consequence the valuation of Eliot has ascended to $1,112,000.

Last year the tax rate was $23 per $1,000. This year it is $15. The change of the steamships is responsible. The town recently received a check of $7,500 as the taxes of the steamship line. Though the state tax was considerably increased this year, Eliot paid off its debt, decreased the tax rate 50 per cent and does not owe a dollar.

GREENLAND'S TAX RATE JUMPS

Chairman William Allen Odell of the board of selectmen of Greenland said today that the tax rate of Greenland is $16.50 per $1,000, which is an increase over the $16 rate of last year. The increase is more necessary by extensive repairs to the town hall, which was in a dilapidated condition. The town's valuation is $90,000. Appropriations amount to $5,500. Of that amount $1,000 is the school tax and $1,500 goes into roads.

In Newington the tax rate is $20 on $1,000. The rate last year was $18.25. The valuation of the town is $120,000. Appropriations totaled $3,065. Special appropriations of $500 to remove the ledge on Pine hill and of $500 for state aid road work were made.

MORLEY BUTTON CO. DEDICATES NEW ADDITIONS

Fully 2,000 people participated last night in the merry-making which marked the dedication of the new buildings that have been added to the plant of the Morley Button Manufacturing Company. There was dancing, concert music and feasting, and everybody who attended took home a handsome souvenir of the occasion.

The feature of the dedication was the complimentary ball, given by the officials to their employees and many invited guests. The dancers numbering hundreds, took the floor in the big hall at the conclusion of an excellent concert by the Portsmouth City Band. After the final dance number, luncheon was served.

The additions include a new office for the clerical staff and reading and recreation rooms.

THREE DOUBLE PLAYS

Three double plays were the features of the game between the teams of the U. S. S. Montana and Riverside A. C., of Kittery, at Kittery, Monday afternoon. The naval nine won, 8 to 6. Green pitched good ball for them after the first inning. He was ably supported by Lehr, Fisher and Hutton. The naval nine did good work for the losers. The score:

HUNT POCKETBOOK THIEF.

Got Away With $100 in Postoffice.

Postoffice inspectors and the police are searching for an unknown man who is charged with eloping with a pocketbook containing about $100 in money, which J. Bradley Ward deposited upon a writing stand in the postoffice yesterday as he penned a money order for his mother, Mrs. Jane Ward. When Mr. Ward concluded the writing of the order his pocketbook was missing. A man known to him by sight had also disappeared. The pocketbook contained at least $100 in money, according to Mr. Ward, and a check for $45 drawn by his mother.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently, but Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness, and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove too sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascarets tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months.

Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Stafford of New York passed the holiday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Stafford. Mr. Stafford has recently taken a fine position as superintendent of building at the Cooper Union, New York. He was lately chief engineer of the Brooklyn municipal ferries.

Rev. Mr. Churchill of Limerick, occupied the pulpit of the Free Baptist church on Sunday. He came here from Old Orchard, where he is in attendance at a conference, and was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Alice.

Miss Cleo M. Clark of Dover is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Bradbury.

Miss Mary Carberry of Lawrence, Mass., is visiting Mrs. Elizabeth White.

Frank E. Getchell has been enjoying a vacation from his duties as leading boatbuilder at the navy yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Seaward passed the holiday with the latter's mother in Dover.

Miss Beatrix Clark has returned from a visit in Dorchester, Mass.

Frederic Gooding of Portsmouth was a visitor in town on Sunday. W. Clinton Chase, who is employed as draughtsman with the United Shoe Machinery company in Beverly, passed Sunday and Monday with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell Hale of Haverhill, passed Labor Day with the latter's parents, Hon. and Mrs. Horace Mitchell.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Heffenger and daughter Miss May of Portsmouth visited relatives here Sunday.

Roscoe Anderson has purchased a rowboat off Frank E. Getchell and will equip it with a gasoline engine.

Miss Marion Emery of Brockton, Mass., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mary Lawrence.

Frank H. Fuller is out of doors again after a serious illness.

ROYAL ETIQUETTE.

In England It Assumes a Number of Curious Phases.

THINGS THE KING CANNOT DO

He is Barred From Accepting Gifts From Individuals, He Must Not Dangle to a Club and May Not Marry Without Parliament's Consent.

It may sound a little curious, but there are quite a number of things which, despite his exalted position as sovereign of the realm, King George V. cannot do. These disabilities range over all sorts of matters and concern etiquette, politics, religion and law.

To begin with etiquette, it is an established practice that his majesty must never call upon or grant an audience to a foreign monarch except in the presence of a responsible minister.

Etiquette also precludes him from accepting a gift which a loyal subject may wish to make him. Should, however, the gift be a joint offering the prohibition does not apply. This enables King George to accept gifts which are subscribed for by a number of people together.

A king never writes a letter to anybody outside his family circle. All other correspondence has to be conducted through one of his secretaries. Nor does King George accept invitations to dine or stop with a subject.

What he does when he wishes to pay such a visit is to invite himself. Another strictly observed point of etiquette is that on ascending the throne a king shall withdraw from any clubs to which he has hitherto belonged.

Similarly, he cannot become a Free Mason, and if he happens to be one at the date of his accession he must resign from the craft. King George, however, has not been initiated.

Even in affairs of the heart a sovereign must bow to the will of others. Although King George might have loved and shared his throne with a hogan maid, the royal marriage act would render the occurrence of any such romantic union impossible in England.

Members of the blood royal must have the sanction of parliament before they can marry, and this would certainly not be accorded unless the birth and position of the lady were beyond reproach.

An English king's position toward the law is somewhat peculiar. Theoretically he is above the law. In practice, however, he has to obey it, just as have his subjects. He must observe the established legal system of the country. Any royal proclamation which he issues is only binding in so far as it is founded upon an existing law.

If cannot alter the common law or create a new offense, nor can a king set up private tribunals, such as the star chamber, or add to the jurisdiction of a court. By a special act of parliament it has also been decided that if his majesty were to lose an action brought against him by the revenue authorities he would be liable for the payment of costs.

By the law of the land the king cannot possibly commit an offense. Any injury or wrong suffered by a subject at his hands has to be attributed to the "mistake of his advisers," hence it happens that King George is the only person in Great Britain who cannot arrest a suspected felon, even if such a one were to be seen by him entering Buckingham palace or Windsor castle. The reason for this is because no action for wrongful arrest could be brought against him, and therefore if the person arrested by him were proved innocent there would then be a wrong without a remedy. Another legal disability of the king is that he is barred of all rights in matters relating to land after a lapse of sixty years. He is also prohibited from serving on a jury or from giving evidence.

Until so comparatively recent a period as 1870 if a subject were convicted of treason or felony the king could claim his property. Another known prerogative of the crown is one known as "corody." During his existence a king who wanted to advance the interests of a royal chaplain could compel a bishop to support such a clergyman until a benefice had been found for him. Nowadays he has not even the right of founding a bishopric or creating ecclesiastical jurisdiction. Similarly he must always be a member of the Church of England and cannot change his religion.

The theory that the king "reigns, but does not govern" is amply borne out by the political system of the country. While the members of parliament are his majesty's "faithful commons," they have certain privileges which he himself does not possess. Thus King George can summon or prorogue parliament at will, but he cannot prolong it beyond a definite period. Similarly he is absolutely barred from imposing any sort of taxation whatever without first securing the consent of parliament. So jealously guarded is this privilege that a king cannot create new officers with new fees or annex new fees to existing offices, as such a course would be considered as imposing a fresh tax.

In bygone times, however, when an English monarch was in want of funds he would levy taxes right and left and without asking anybody.

The franchise does not extend to English monarchs. King George is one of the few men possessing a genuine stake in the country without the privilege of recording a vote. — London Belman.

WILL OIL GO UP?

Now that the big Standard Oil Company is divided into more than thirty companies, the stock of which is held by the owners of the former Standard shares, the public soon will have opportunity of knowing whether or not the dissolution brought about by the Federal Government will have any appreciable effect on "the cost of living." What the result may be is suggested by the statement of a Standard official that "the only element of doubt as to the general effect of the reorganization upon stockholders lies in the ability of the constituent companies operating independently to produce as large a total of profits as under the old form of management." If thirty-three companies cannot work as economically as one corporation, what is to prevent the thirty-three from putting up prices so that shareholders will make as much money as before the reorganization? Many persons are ready to believe that the Standard Oil magnates will not hesitate to ask consumers to make good any losses due to cumbersome methods of administration.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

LENGTHENING THE SEASON.

Bar Harbor is now at the turning point of its season. While the month of September will bring a number of social events the summer colony will largely turn its attention to athletics and to the enjoyments of riding, driving and pedestrianism. Few of the cottages will be closed for several weeks to come, for the city dwellers well realize the charms of September and October at beautiful Mt. Desert and each year finds the exodus put off until a later and later date.—Bangor Commercial.

Appropos of this quoted paragraph from the Commercial we are put in mind of our own all too short summer season. In Casco Bay Western Maine has the finest business asset imaginable. Are we making the most of it? It certainly does not seem so when we practically close the vacation season on Labor Day. And for what earthly reason? To be sure many must return to the towns and cities because of the school children, but there are hundreds and thousands who do not have this to consider. Why, then, this general shutting up of everything, this apparent acknowledgment that it is all over until another year? Are we not to blame ourselves?

September is one of the most delightful months of the year at the shore, generally a much more agreeable month than August. Instead of talking the end of the season about this time, why not do everything in our power to keep the visitors here until October? They do it at Bar Harbor, they do it at the various Nova Scotia resorts, although they are far north of Casco Bay. The steamboat lines are partly to blame, although managers have had the matter put up to them so frequently in late years that they are least becoming in a more receptive frame of mind and in the near future may be induced not to knock the props from under their summer schedules just because the calendar says it is Labor Day.

The longer we can make the season, the better off our citizens are. The longer the hotel keepers, the boarding house proprietors, the shopmen can keep open, the more money they will have to deposit in our banks and to keep in circulation giving Doan's Kidney Pills my entire at home.—Portland Evening Express.

All that is said above might profitably be applied to Portsmouth.

GOOD NEWS

Many Portsmouth Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad backs sufferers in Portsmouth are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading: James W. McMullen, 69 Dennett St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent remedy as they have been used in my family for pain and the longer the hotel keepers, the boarding house proprietors, the shopmen can keep open, the more money they will have to deposit in our banks and to keep in circulation giving Doan's Kidney Pills my entire at home.—Portland Evening Express."

Remember the name—Doan's—and Chicago and Los Angeles have taken no other.

TALKS OF TWO CITIES.

Chicago and Los Angeles have taken no other.

each made experiment with the employment of a woman detective as a means of putting a stop to the annoyance of women on the streets by the insolences of men looking for flirtations. The results make not one story but two.

The Chicago story is brief. The detective was instructed that a man is not to be arrested merely for bowing to a lady or for speaking to her if he does so with politeness, but only if he persisted in intruding himself upon her or showed offensive attentions. She reported that after parading the streets from 8 to 5 in the afternoon not a man spoke to her or was in any way rude to her.

The Los Angeles story is too long to tell in full. The detective in that city had two men convicted of flirting the first day of her service and four men the second day. The Chief of Police then detailed two men to assist her. But by that time her career had roused the town. It was alleged that the "flirt cop," as they called her, made overtures to men and captured some very reputable citizens. The wife of one of these undertook to whip her. Report says she went about her work in a light-colored lace dress, white shoes and stockings, large-sleeved black silk wrap lined with red, collar and cuffs being trimmed with silk of the same hue, and wore a tall black domino but the size of a peck-measure. The Chief decided that the dress was too attractive and the lady was excused from further service.

The moral of the contrasted stories is too obvious to be worth stating, but it is just as well to have had it proved by experiment.—New York World.

LEGS VS. WHEELS

"Wheels, it is true, have brought great power, help and comfort to man, but they have exacted much of him in return. They have diminished his likeness of body, his self-dependence, his love of the earth."

So writes President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York, in the current number of the Youth's Companion. "In 'False of Walking'."

Doctor Finley refers as follows to his famous walk from Tamworth to Hanover, to attend the inauguration of President Nicholas of Dartmouth: "My son's great-grandfather, who was in Rufus Choate's class in Dartmouth, used to walk almost the entire way across the state of New Hampshire to and from college at the beginning and the end of the term or the year, a distance of nearly seventy miles; but when I made the same journey not long ago on foot, successors of the students Carlyle and Spencer in this country of distances seemed at first to be incredulous, and after the submission of data, amazed that any one should walk so far in one day."

"On another occasion," he says, "I took young Richard Cleveland with me for a tramp of many miles, over mountain roads. And what I did for that fine young son of one who was the foremost of our nation I should like to do or have somebody else do often for the thousand of other boys who read The Youth's Companion—become not their pedagogues, leading them to school, but their companions on foot in the city streets, over the country roads and through the forest trails. If we teach them to enjoy walking, we shall be prolonging their days, giving them hope of joy even in age, and making certain that they will have a greater respect for simple, honest, unaffected, rugged manhood."

A good and timely sentiment for this age of wheels, material and mental.—Concord Monitor.

WALLACE E. LANE WINS SHERMAN CARTOON PRIZE

All the Competitors Show Most Promising Talent and Make Judges' Task a Hard One

Interest in The Herald's drawing contest, in connection with Homer Davenport's series of "Men I Have Sketched" has proved even greater than had been expected.

So many aspirants for the weekly prize offered submitted free hand copies of the Senator Sherman cartoon that the judges were almost put to their wit's end in selecting the most meritorious from among them.

Nearly all the contestants have shown surprisingly promising talent in reproducing the Sherman cartoon of Mr. Davenport.

After the most careful deliberation the judges have concluded that Wallace E. Lane, 17 years old, of 420 Lafayette road, is most deserving of the award.

Consequently, to this lad goes the handsome artist's proof of the Sherman sketch, offered by the Herald for the best free hand copy of the Davenport original.

This proof is printed on Japan paper and bears the great cartoonist's personal autograph. It is a prize well worth winning.

Among the other competitors who well merit honorable mention are the following: Elnora Crass, 16, of South Elliot; Eleanor Ireland, 14, of 904 South street, Portsmouth; Joseph Archibald, 13, of 1972 Woodbury avenue, Portsmouth; William Henry Hackney, 18, of Kittery.

GREENLAND SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 11TH

Greenland schools open for the fall term on Monday, Sept. 11, with the following teachers in charge: Principal grammar school, Mayola F. Furber, Plymouth Normal; assistant, Beatrice M. Billbruck, Portsmouth Training school; Primary, Heloise I. Whittier, Portsmouth Training school. Grades one, two and three will be accommodated at the Primary building and grades four to eight at the town hall building.

Much improved accommodation for the grammar grades has been provided. The main room has undergone extensive repairs and refinishing, and a recitation room has been arranged by using the space in the Town Hall formerly used as a balcony.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

The New York Herald's Washington correspondent reiterates the report of the death of Jeff Davis, and says it is generally believed in Washington.

The Tribune's correspondent says that Jeff Davis has long had a disease of the optic nerve, threatening a cancerous result, and that his physician apprised him that death would speedily follow the extension of the disease to the brain.

A member of the Second New Hampshire Regiment, who is himself a prisoner at Richmond, communicates to the Manchester Mirror a list of the names of forty-two members of the regiment who are now prisoners there. The list differs quite essentially from that previously published, which contained but twenty-eight names, and we therefore publish it although we have no means of determining which the more accurate. It is as follows:

Herman Allen, John A. Barker, A. B. Bailey, John H. Barry, Joseph Burleigh, John Davis, Thurlow A. Emerson, Geo. C. Emerson, Moses L. Eastman, John L. Flitts, Galen A. Grout, A. L. Hall, Albert B. Robinson, Frank F. Weatherby, Frank K. Tucker, Samuel M. Joy, William H. Walker, W. Lord, Alden T. Kidder, Reuben F. Stevens, Charles H. Terry, Christy Jones, George E. Dow, Thomas E. ### GOTCH CLINCHES TITLE IN TWO STRAIGHT FALLS

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Frank Gotch clinched his title to the wrestling championship of the world here this afternoon by throwing George Hackenschmidt, the man from whom he captured it in 1908, in two straight falls. The "Russian Lion" was comparatively easy for him. Though Gotch was the favorite, in the betting, the great crowd that flocked to the bout never expected victory would come to him so readily. When they met three years ago, they sparred on their feet for two hours before Gotch finally succeeded in getting back of his man.

Today, the Iowa farmer showed wonderful form. He was nimble as a cat, sinewy as a tiger, strong as a bull and on the alert to avail himself of every opening to get a winning hold. The ponderous Russian seemed dazed when he found himself pinned to the mat so quickly in the first fall.

Both wrestlers were in superb condition, having trained conscientiously for the most important bout in their careers.

GREAT GAME PENDING

Bartenders and Barbers Are on Edge for Their Next Contest

The bartenders and the barbers will make another attempt to get together and fight that long looked for game on the diamond next Thursday. The bartenders already have won a game from the barbers and want another badly. They say they will give their opponents a close shave, if nothing more.

The bartenders will come forward with a little different line up than before which will be as follows: B. Keefe, c; Jack Barrett, p; Barney Featherstone, 1b; Frank Gear, 2b; Walter Lynsky, 3b; Leon Thompson, ss; Lyman Stott, cf; George Snow, rf; Dick Ryan, lf. Billy Mitchell, Pete Farrell, Henry Spinney and Ed Gibbons will be on the reserve bench, all in great trim, if called upon to help in any inning.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

RIVER AND HARBOR

The barge which was sunk at Stratham in collision with a mud scow has been raised and towed down river. She is now on the flats at Noble's island.

Capt. Fred Gray of South Brooks, Me., late of schooner Mentor, appeared here Saturday in command of the three master Sarah and Lucy. The five master Dorothy Palmer will today finish discharging her $700 ton cargo of coal at Railroad wharf.

The motor boat patrol of the volunteer life savers paid a visit here Sunday. On her way down river she became disabled and was towed back to this city for repairs.

Billions? Feel heavy after dinner? Tongue coated? Bitter taste? Complexion sallow? Lifeless eyes? Hair falling out? Doan's Regulator cures bilious attacks. 25 cents at any drug store.

Good Money After Bad.

It is a curious fact that many men, level headed enough about other things, seem to lose their wits entirely when they become involved in lawsuits. In one case recently concluded in the German courts a Berlin merchant paid out over $900 to recover the value of a five cent postage stamp. He had written a letter asking for an address and inclosing postage for reply. Failing to get an answer, he used for the stamp.

The famous Missouri watermelon case was just as trifling and even more disastrous. The seed was planted on one farm, but the vine crept through a crack in the rail fence, and the melon grew on the other side. Both farmers claimed it, and instead of perceiving the humor of the situation they went to law. To add to the puzzling features of the question of ownership there was the further complication in that the fence stood on a county line, whereupon a question of the jurisdiction of the courts came up. The farmers bankrupted themselves without obtaining a decision as to the ownership.—Green Bag.

Liquid Dynamite.

The Mexicans have a native brandy called aguardiente, which is a species of liquid dynamite, as palatable as corrosive sublimate and as full of potential devilry as an egg is of rent. When you find a Mexican gentleman adorned with a belt full of deadly weapons decorating and deluging his interior with aguardiente it is the part of prudence to retire to a bombproof. There is another tittle, a white, innocent looking fluid called mescol, which is distilled from a cactus of the same name, which has in it all the combined energy, activity and homicidal possibilities of a volcano mixed up with the gable end of a mule. In former days the Apache Indians made a crude distillation of the same stimulant, which they called tis-win, and as a preliminary to a raid among ranches and settlements it was a great success from an Indian point of view.—Boston Herald.

The Crocodiles Dived.

The cunning of wild animals in concealing themselves in moments of danger is well known. A party, spending a week on the Nile, were watching eight or ten crocodiles sunning themselves on the surface of a small lagoon. It was determined to trap these monsters, if possible. The water was breast deep, including about two feet or more of heavy mud. Four nets were tied together, so as to make one long enough to reach across the lagoon, and this was weighted on the bottom. This net was drawn with long poles from each shore, and behind the net came a line of men a yard apart, prodding the mud with poles. The scheme looked like an admirable one, but the crocodiles sleepily dived, and that was the last seen of them. The water was dragged backward and forward, but they had burrowed so deeply in the mud that not one could be found.

A Political Genius.

Congressmen sometimes adopt queer expedients to gain the good will of their constituents. Years ago a member from a western state was afraid that his first term would be his last, as he had not managed to make himself a power in congress. While he was debating what he should do, a friend said, "You live near the center of the United States, don't you?" "Yes." "Then why don't you introduce a bill to have the capital moved to the principal town in your district?" The congressman introduced the bill, and the people of his district at once concluded he was a great man and sent him back for another term. He reintroduced the bill in the next congress, and, although it was promptly pigeonholed in committee, his constituents gave him a third term as a reward for his genius.

Very Thoughtful.

Mrs. Comler (on a tour of inspection through her friend's house)—Gracious! Why do you have such a high bed for your little boy? Mrs. Houseler—So you can hear him if he falls out. You have no idea what heavy sleepers my husband and I are.—Chicago News.

In, but Found Out.

New Maid (opening door for caller)—No missus ain't in, ma'am. Caller—Oh, yes, she is. I saw her at the window as I came along. New Maid—Did you? Well, she was asleep and I caught a glimpse of her face!—Lippincott.

Not Lively.

Anna Maria Wilhelmina Pickering, in her memoirs, edited by her son, tells a Yorkshire incident which contains a great deal of human nature. Variety spices life. The plan is monotonous until its extent entitles it to the name of prairie or desert and it gains interest through vastness.

There was an old couple in the village whom I used often to go to see. One day when I found them sitting, one on each side of the fire, the old man said to me:

"Well, t'missis and me, we've been married high on fifty years, and we've never had one quarrel."

The old woman looked at me with a twinkle in her eye and said:

"It war varle conscientious, but varle dool."

The Bloody Hand.

The noted English family of the Holtes has for its badge a bloody hand, and this sinister badge commemorates a wager that ended in a crime. Sir Thomas Holte one day in 1012 was hunting. He invited his comrades home with him to dinner, and as he rode along he made a heavy bet on his cook's punctuality. But the cook failed him for once. When he got home dinner was not ready. The jeers of his companions at this failure, together with his huge loss in the matter of the wager, enraged him so that he ran into the kitchen, seized a cleaver and split the cook's head open with it. Afterward his family, to keep this crime alive, adopted for its crest the bloody hand of the cook killer.

An Eskimo's Dwelling.

We do not look for any great amount of inventive genius among the Eskimos, but for years they have employed a rather complete respirator, used in the preparation and taking of a vapor bath, as a means of protection from the dense smoke. This Eskimo respirator is a little basket woven of twisted strands of fine grass. It is placed with its shallow side against the mouth, and a wooden peg, which arises from the center of the basket, is held between the teeth. For this purpose water is evaporated over a big fire in a very low hut, which is tightly closed to keep in the heat. In this stifling atmosphere the employment of a respirator is absolutely necessary.—London Globe.

The Tyrolean.

You may find the artistic temperament among the peasants in the villages of Bavarian Tyrol. They talk still of the King Ludwig, who lavished money on palaces and died an insane suicide and murderer. You remind them that they are still paying off the debts of the mad king. They reply cheerfully that they are glad of it, for Ludwig loved music and gave us Wagner.—London Chronicle.

A Stirring Appeal.

The following epistle was sent by an angry tenant to his landlord:

Dear Sir—I want them seller steps fixed right off. My wife fell down last nite and like to broke her blame neck. Please send blumber and fix our bath tub it will soon be time now for us to use him again and oolige. Yours true, —Everybody's.

"Do you write for the magazines very much?"

"No-o, not exactly for them yet, but to them."—Philadelphia Ledger.

SPERRY LOCKE PULLS GAME OUT OF THE FIRE

Pitches P.A.C. Team to Victory After Elks Apparently Have Labor Day Contest Buttoned Up.

With a five-run handicap to overcome, and everything seemingly going the way of his opponents, Sperry Locke went upon the firing line for the P. A. C. nine against the

He "Ate Up" Everything in Sight.

Elks at the playgrounds Monday afternoon in the middle of a disastrous second inning and pitched his team to a hard-fought victory, 15 to 14.

Close to 2,000 people, hundreds of them women who took as intense and intelligent an interest in the contest as their escorts, watched the game, which was crammed with weird errors and free hitting, and went the unusual distance of two hours and 25 minutes.

The Elks appeared to have the contest buttoned up when Locke took the pitcher's box in the second. They had scored nine runs to the P. A. C.'s 4 and were having a picnic with Ham, whose support was ragged. With the change in twirlers, however, their chances of winning diminished. Locke allowed only six hits in the seven and a half innings he pitched. He had three strikeouts and made three hits himself.

After the team behind Locke got fairly going, they rapidly cut down the Elks' lead, putting the game on ice in the seventh, when five of them crossed the plate. The Elks were unable to tie it up in the eighth or ninth and the P. A. C. were victors without having to bat in the last inning.

As to individual playing there is little to be said. Moran, made errors off all the four chances offered him, but partly alone, for it by stealing three bases. Locke caught the crowd by purloining third. Bunker played a good game at first base and so did Newick, who had a clean record at that post of duty. Seth Hanson, usually a reliable player, got snagged for two errors. He worked a nifty sacrifice, however, and scored two runs, and rapped out a three-bagger. Newick and Bunker also made triples. Every other hit made in the game was a single.

Both Jewell and De Rohan worked cleanly and sharply behind the bat. After Ham met his Waterloo in the second, he went to short, but had practically nothing to do there.

The Elks' infield was away off in fielding and throwing, while the inner bulwark of the P. A. C. team was strong except for two errors by

LODGED IN JAIL ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Candia Man Held in $1000 Bonds

County Solicitor Ernest L. Guptill and Deputy Sheriff Wilbur B. Shaw went to Candia on Labor day and got Richard French Fifield on the charge of attempting to rape nine-year-old Eudovilla Hussey Sunday night. Fifield was arraigned before Judge Alfred Emery of Auburn and held in $1,000 bonds for the October grand jury. Then he was brought to this city and lodged in jail.

William F. Harrington and family of Manchester, who have been passing the summer at the Richardson cottage on the Wentworth House road, will return to Manchester on Wednesday.

For the Children

Elephants, as most young people know, are very fond of bathing, and in their native jungles frequently seek the rivers and lakes to enjoy a water frolic. Down at Coney Island the pachyderms take a swim in the surf and greatly enjoy buffeting the salt billows. When bathing at the beach the huge beasts are accompanied by trainers, who sit on their necks and guide them from the water when their time is up. This is necessary, for they are show animals and must be in their places when the performance begins. If left to themselves they would probably forget all about their engagements. The elephant in the picture is Hattie, the famous performing elephant in the Central Park zoo. The photographer caught her as she was getting her daily bath from a hose. Her expression shows she is enjoying it hugely.

An Old Timer.

Turtles are one of a few kinds of animals that live longer than men do. They look their age too. A turtle that had a date mark on him, though not the date of his arrival in the world, was found a few days ago in New York, not far from Poughkeepsie, where the boat races are held on the Hudson river in the early summer. The turtle, which was a land tortoise, was found by David B. Sleight, who lives on the farm where his father lived for many years. On the turtle's back, but in the hard shell, Mr. Sleight found his father's initials, A. W. S., and the date 1854, cut deeply and still plainly visible. He added his own initials and the date and turned the little creature loose to live perhaps until another generation of Sleights come along.

A Bathing by the Sea.

A few miles below Delmar, Cal., there may be seen in a rocky ledge a peculiar basin cut out of solid rock. It measures 6 by 4 feet and its depth is about five feet. At high tide the basin is filled; at low, it and the surrounding rock ledge are laid bare. Above the basin are gutters, which allow the escape of surplus waters. It is supposed that the bath was used by the Indians in early times and that they heated the sea water by means of heated stones. It is not improbable that the sick redskins obtained relief from skin diseases and other ills by baths in the hot salt water of this peculiar basin.

It is quite well made and shapely and would have been very convenient for such a purpose.

A Doll's Silver Set.

A set of silver for the doll's dressing table can be made from tin foil, so it is a good plan to save all the tin foil that comes around candy, etc., and smooth it out nicely. You may make a mirror for the dressing room or the doll's boudoir of the tin foil with a border of gold paper. Cut out a piece of cardboard in any shape you desire and then cover it with tin foil. The gilt border should not be plain, but should be cut into ornamental corners or used to cover a raised frame of cardboard. If you are going to use the mirror for the dining room or library of the doll's house make the mirror in the same manner with a double cardboard frame around the edge and cover this frame with dark paper in the wood tones.

Conundrums.

Why are good boys like dough? Because we need them.
Why is it impossible for a boy who lisps to believe in the existence of young ladies? He takes every miss for a myth.
Why are printers liable to bad colds? Because they always use damp sheets.
Why is an empty discourse like a solid one? Because it is all sound.

Captain Kit's Cruise!

When Captain Kit is telling yarns To Tim and Ted and Polly About the Crafty Christopher And all its cruises jolly His lively tales Of chasing whales In sunny southern seas, Where dolphins play Mid flying spray And waves dance in the breeze, Set all their little hearts on fire—To sail at once is their desire! And Tim will be the captain, And Ted will be the mate, And Polly'll be the lookout Who sits aloft in state.

But when he tells of howling winds To Tim and Ted and Polly And all the Crafty Christopher's Adventures rascally, Ofinky glands, And icy shrouds, And falling hopes, And rocks that wait to wreck, Then all their little cheeks grow pale, And they decide that when they sail Tim will be the cabin boy, And Ted will be the cook, And Polly'll be a passenger Tucked in some sheltered nook.

—Youth's Companion.

New Up to Canada.

After a prolonged struggle in congress, particularly in the senate, the Canadian reciprocity bill has been passed without any amendments hanging to it that will handicap the measure. In some respects it was a beautiful fight. In other respects it was an ugly one. But in no respect was it a party fight. Conceived by a Republican president, passed by a Democratic house of representatives and by a Republican senate with the aid of Democratic members, trade reciprocity with Canada is achieved, so far as the United States is concerned, as a matter of popular demand. President Taft is to be congratulated upon his refusal to play partisan politics in regard to this important measure. The Democrats who championed his policy are to be congratulated upon their avoidance of pigheaded partisanship. The opposers of the measure may be credited with sincerity, speaking generally, but it appears that manifest destiny was against them.

Now it is up to Canada to complete the proposition by passing a similar reciprocity bill, and there is no likelihood that the Dominion parliament will fail to come to time. When the Canadian legislators shall have met the American legislators half way the reciprocity treaty of last winter which made necessary an extra session of congress will be signed, sealed and delivered and a new era of trade relations between "the brothers of one blood," the Yankee and the Canuck, will be inaugurated. It is the belief of many competent students of the problem that great good will follow.

The little hue and cry raised early in the fight to the effect that reciprocity was but a move toward our annexation of Canada faded out into silence very quickly. Nobody was scared—not even those who are frightened by war scare cries—and the reciprocity struggle has simply followed the way mapped out for it—namely, the road to victory.

Commissioners of cities on the Galveston or Des Moines plan seems to be sweeping the country like a prairie fire, but its advocates say it doesn't burn up half as much public money as the old style aldermanic method of misgovernment.

Custom house receipts show that during the time Mexico was treating itself to a revolution it took the trouble to raise a big crop of potatoes.

The weekly revolution in Haiti is getting along as well as usual.

Improved Chauffeurs Wanted.

"Automobiles have greatly improved in the past few years, but chauffeurs have not," remarked a wise person the other day after making out a long list of accidents to life and limb due to careless or reckless driving of automobiles. The fact is that the accidents caused by improper construction of machines are growing fewer every year, while those due to the incompetency or the criminal recklessness of the drivers are increasing in number. The manufacturers are doing all they can to improve the machine. If the death list is to be reduced something must be done to improve the mental quality of the drivers.

A few days ago a man was run down and killed near Baltimore by an automobile filled with boys, one of whom, seventeen years old, was driving. The boy drove right ahead. When arrested he admitted that he ran over the man, but said he was trying to make up time on a good stretch of road. He was exceeding the limit of speed allowed by law. This is only an isolated instance of the recklessness of auto drivers; but it serves to point the moral that "kids" should not be permitted to drive these dangerous machines.

An automobile is a locomotive engine at large. Why should irresponsible persons be permitted to drive one of these death dealing engines on public highways? An engine driver on a railroad is required to undergo several years' training before he takes command of the throttle. He must be a man of years enough to indicate discretion. But any cheap skate Tom, Dick or Harry may drive a loose locomotive zigzag over the highways frequented by pedestrians and vehicle travelers. Sometimes these inexperienced drivers kill themselves. At other times they kill other persons.

A bent crazed man has appeared at the headquarters of the United States Steel corporation and offered his services as president. He may only be wanting to divorce his wife and marry an actress or try his luck at Monte Carlo.

A man recently released from the Minnesota state prison after serving twenty-nine years said he never heard of Roosevelt being president. Think how humiliated Colonel Roosevelt must feel!

Men who tower above their fellows still show the little weaknesses of human nature. Here is John D. Rockefeller objecting to city taxes.

READY FOR FALL.

Tailored Suit For the First Cool Days.

TAILORED SUIT OF BAYEN'S WING BLUE.

Cobean, or raven's wing blue, is going to be the smart color for tailored suits in the fall. This shade is a navy blue so dark that it is almost black.

The natty little suit illustrated is developed in raven's wing blue broadcloth. The skirt is narrow, but there is no suggestion of the erstwhile hobble in its lines. A panel effect is given the front width and there are scant inverted box plaits at the sides and in the back that are stitched and pressed flatly within a foot of the edge of the skirt.

The hip length coat has a surplined collar of black velvet and black and white pip dotted silk. The cuffs are ornamented with the same materials. A handsome ornament of black silk passementerie fastens the coat at the waist line.

Ingenious Hostess.

The hostess who has experienced the confusion of seating a large number of guests at small tables will appreciate the device of one woman who accomplished it gracefully.

The guests were to be seated in several rooms at tables holding six and four. The hostess made an alphabet list of guests and hung it in the hall. Opposite the name of each woman was the number of the table and the room in which it was set. On the tables, which each had its separate floral piece, was a number cut from gilt paper and placed in the center of flowers so it could be quickly seen. Place cards were used, as at an ordinary luncheon.

Advanced Styles in Fall Hats.

Here are two of the advanced fall hats. As you see, the shapes continue close fitting, as were the summer models. One of the hats illustrated is a very close fitting noke, plainly covered with dark green velvet and trimmed with long pointed wings extending ing high at the back. A band of ribbon and a bow are placed at each side. An extremely cone shaped crown is exploited in the second model, which is simply draped in Bengallie silk and has a smooth covered brim of the same silk. A large wing of black and white, pointing high in the air, decorates the back of the chapeau.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI"

"The Girl in the Taxi," the greatest laughing success of the century, comes to the Portsmouth Theatre tomorrow night. "The Girl in the Taxi" was originally produced in Berlin and afterward in Paris. In both cities it created a sensation and

The "Bad News" Bell at Lloyd's.

The bell of the British frigate Lu the, which sank off the Dutch coast in 1799 with a cargo of coin and specie valued at $6,000,000, is the "bad news" bell at Lloyd's. Whenever news is received that a ship is overdue or when definite news comes of the loss of a ship the bell is rung by the "caller." At its tolling all transactions are suspended until the news it heralds is read.

RAND'S GROVE PICNIC

ATTENDED BY 400

Eagles Run Off Some Lively Sports and Have Plenty on Hand to Eat

About 400 persons went down to Rand's grove Labor Day to the picnic of Mercedes Aerle, P. O. E., which was in charge of a committee of arrangements comprising Edward Brown, chairman; Jero Horan, Fred Obrey, Alfred McCourt, George Lane, Frank Trueman, John Shughnessy and Andrew Barrett. The sports committee were George Lane and Frank Trueman.

Fish chowder and lobsters were served in generous measure and nobody went hungry. Cigars were not lacking, either.

The 100 yard dash was won by Richard Kennedy; Andrew Barrett second. Kennedy also took the 50 yard sprint and again Barrett was second. The 100 yard shoe race was won by Corvin Strausbaugh, with William Kupper second. Dennis Long took the running high jump and F. L. Bowden was second.

Dan Gebhardt made 9 ft. 3 1/2 in. in the standing broad jump and won it, George Lane being second. He also won the running broad jump. The judges were P. Conley and John Reynolds.

MUNNATAWKET SLATED FOR GOVERNMENT INSPECTION

Fisher's Island Steamboat Co. Gives Bonds to Cover Attachment on Craft

The Fisher's Island Steamboat company, owner of the steamer Munnatawket, has furnished bonds to cover the attachment put upon her Aug. 16 by Henry W. Morse, manager of the Appleton and Atlantic hotels at the Isles of Shoals, who wants restitution for alleged loss of business through repeated breakdowns of the steamer this season.

Local machinists are at work on the steamer's damaged boiler, and her owners expect to have her in condition to pass a government inspection, which will occur on Wednesday. The Munnatawket will then go to Providence, R. I., under her own steam, and will there be given a thorough overhauling. Capt. Charles W. Frisbee, who has been on her as pilot and later as shipkeeper, will, it is expected, take her around Cape Cod.

ROCKINGHAM REPUBLICAN CLUB TO MEET ON THURSDAY

Officers Will Be Chosen and Many Important Matters Adjusted

The annual meeting of the Rockingham Republican club will be held at the probate court room in Exeter on Thursday of this week at 2:30 p. m. It is to be an important meeting as the officers for the coming year will then be chosen, and although this year is an "off year" in matters to adjust, such as the holding of a ladies day or similar outing this season. One is usually held previous to this date, but as yet no action has been taken.

President Dr. Albert S. Wetherell will call the meeting to order at 2 o'clock, while the intervening half hour may be taken advantage of by those desirous to enroll as members and by those members desirous of paying their annual dues. The meeting will probably be largely attended as there has not been a regular meeting for several months.

CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF THE GUNNING LAWS

A representative of the New Hampshire fish and game commission was at Hampton Beach recently, and as a result of his visit, three persons were brought into the Hampton district court, charged with a violation of the laws, gunning on the beach and marshes without licenses. Two of the men were fined, the third, who rowed the boat for the other two, being discharged.

NAVY YARD

Yard Residents Enjoy Roller Skating

The yard residents are finding much pleasure in roller skating in the rink which has been opened in building No. 92.

Has Guest from Baltimore

Miss Peterson of Baltimore is the guest of Capt. C. C. Rogers, commandant of the station.

Inspecting the Gunboat

The official board of survey, Captain Thomas Snowden senior member, is at the yard today looking over the gunboat Petrel.

Music at All Services

Chaplain Rennolds of the yard has lately added a choir and orchestra to the services on Sunday at the naval prison and on the Southery.

Back on Duty

Reuben Task, flange turner in the machinery division, who was injured July 28, reported for duty today.

Off for Ten Days

Thomas P. Hogan, typewriter and stenographer in the hull division office, is enjoying a ten days' furlough at his home in Newton, Mass.

Gunboat Coming North

The U. S. S. Marietta, now at Port au Prince Haiti, has been ordered to this yard via Guantanamo.

May Have New Chaplain

Rumor has it that Chaplain Walter G. Isaacs of the U. S. S. Michigan will be ordered to this yard to take up the religious duties of Chaplain C. H. Dickens, who is now on sick leave.

Why Not Spend the Money Allowed for Portsmouth?

The bureau of yards and docks at Washington is shortly to ask for bids for the building of a $200,000 foundry at the Washington yard. This money just became available and the department loses no time in putting it to the use for which it was appropriated.

This is somewhat different than the matter of a foundry of the same cost for the Portsmouth yard. Money to construct the same has been available for several years and outside of a little convict work on the excavator not a stroke has been done otherwise. It's time that somebody did something.

JUDGE SMITH TO LECTURE HERE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The Christian Scientists of Portsmouth have engaged Judge Clifford P. Smith of Boston to deliver a lecture on Christian Science on Sunday afternoon, September 10th, in Freeman's hall at 3 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

The lecturer was formerly a judge of the district court of Iowa, a position which he resigned to become first reader of the Christian Science "Mother Church" in Boston. Judge Smith is now a member of the board of lecturers of this church, and it is said he is able to present the teachings of Christian Science in a very plain and convincing manner.

SCHULTZ AWAITS HIS SECOND COURT MARTIAL

Lea Schultz, the naval prisoner recently brought back to the navy yard after his recapture at his home in Medina, N. Y., is still in confinement here awaiting his second court-martial. Schultz had but a month more to serve when he escaped on the prison ship Southey on June 12 in company with two fellow convicts. Civil authorities, it is said, will take Schultz in hand when the navy department has done with him.

POLICE ARE AFTER HAZEL RUSS AGAIN.

The police were asked yesterday to watch for Hazel Russ, who is charged with running away from her home in Dover with $6 in money and a bankbook. The girl was previously picked up by the police of this city.
